Dear Parents

Wow! Our last, incredible week of learning for this half term. I am so proud of the progress and achievements that your children have made, despite the circumstances and environments which they have spent this half term learning in. I hope they enjoy a well deserved half term break with you with some time in the outdoors getting some fresh air. Remember to have a think of a selection of questions and challenges for the teachers ready to send into the office for after half term whilst you are enjoying your break.

This week, the children have demonstrated their new learning from this half term throughout a range of activities including quizzes, Jamboards, multiplication and division maths questions, and finally, by writing incredible alternative endings to our class text The Mousehole Cat. The creativity, vocabulary and presentation the children have considered as they completed their piece of writing is outstanding. I hope that they are as proud of themselves as we are of them! In school, as an extra exploration of learning, the children have got creative once again showing their artist skills as we explored different artists and considered different ways to express our love of reading. I look forward to seeing a selection of photos from the children at home as they complete this too!

After half term, we will be continuing our learning online for a while. The children will continue to find their learning on Google Classroom with the extra online resources of Numbots, Times Table Rockstars, getEpic, BugClub and Accelerated Reader available. We will be introducing Spelling Shed as an added online resource at the beginning of the first week back. Please keep a look out for an email with the login details for your child which will include further details with the purpose of this in line with our curriculum.

During the first week back, I will be running two live sessions with the class. One on Monday at 1:10pm for 15 minutes and one on Friday at 9:30 for 15 minutes. Mrs Guntrip will also be holding her assembly. Keep a look out for timings!

I hope you have a wonderful, safe half term as a family. We look forward to seeing you on screen soon!
Miss Holt
