

Maples Weekly Newsletter

Friday 11th March 2022

Home Learning

Please continue to share books and stories with your children. For maths this week - see if you can find different numbers around your home environment – clocks, receipts, car number plates ect.

Dear Parents

What a fabulous week it has been! We have enjoyed using different mediums around the nursery environment – paint, whiteboards, pens, chalks and pencils – to create different marks, patterns and form some letters.

In maths we have been looking at the 'Numberblocks' and enjoying their math adventures. They can be found on the Cebeebies website and on iPlayer.

We had a really great time in Forest School this week. Our focus was on the artist Andy Goldsworthy, looking at how he uses spirals in his art. We created our own spirals using sticks which we had collected together.

We hope you all have a wonderful family weekend together.

Miss Farress, Mrs Gray, Miss Keeley

This week our star of the week is Otilie. Otilie has been working hard to write her name. She has practised lots of mark making this week and forming letters to create some wonderful writing. Otilie is enjoying using the different areas of the nursery to practise her mark making and to include it within her play. She has written some letters to her friends, created her own menu in the home corner and even created a wonderful letter picture using her mono painting skills. Well done Otilie, you are working really hard with your letter formation.

Important dates

Parent consultations 14th and 16th March

Learning Academy Partnership (South West)
'FLOURISHING FUTURES'

